

Introduction for Barbara Wichman

"I am sure you've thrown many a starfish back into the sea making a real difference for each one. We absolutely remember who took the time to pick us up. Keep it up... the starfish need you."

This, from just one of Barbara's clients.

You don't choose to be a leader to be mediocre. You choose leadership to create success, to lead others to greatness, and to make a positive difference.

But a legendary leader? Aren't legendary leaders those that have bronze statues of themselves in a park - riding a horse and holding a sword high in the air?

Barbara is here today to share how you can be a legendary leader by having something more important than a statue - the ability to lead brilliantly and creating the belief in others that they, too, can be legendary leaders.

Barbara has spoken to thousands across the US, Europe, and South America.

She interviews prominent business and community leaders on her inspiring podcast, "The Secrets of Legendary Leadership," found on iTunes.

Barbara is the founder of the incredible Be Legendary Conference where she brings together speakers who have chosen to live extraordinary lives.

She is the author of The Leadership Tinderbox book series and her forthcoming book, "The Secrets of Legendary Leadership."

Please give a warm welcome to Barbara Wichman.
