

Biography:

Barbara Wichman holds a long-standing reputation for accelerating positive change in organizations and leaders.

Barbara's expertise lies in evolving cultures to accelerate goal achievement, develop leaders for current organizational needs, and more importantly, for its future.

Her organization savvy is solidified with her expertise in change management and collaborative relationship style, so strategies, purpose, and vision are realized.

She provides intensive competency and capability development for high-potential senior leaders and foundational intensives for emerging leaders.

Barbara is a consultant, author of two books on leadership, and co-author of a daily journal for leaders. She is a speaker, a trusted confidante, and driven to create success for her clients.

These requirements are intended to make the event as easy as possible for organizers and for Barbara. We look to eliminate the organizers' stress with last minute requests and technical confusion. Last-minute changes add cost and disruption, and she wants to respect your budget and brand.

Barbara's AV Requirements

- A cordless headset microphone
- A second microphone for the person introducing Barbara
- A wireless microphone (hand-held or toss-box) for audience questions
- Wireless remote presentation advancer
- Small draped table for water
- Round draped tables or chevron seating

Barbara's Virtual Requirements

- Chat room, poll, and question dedicated support for events larger than 20 attendees
- Dedicated technical support
- Pre-meeting testing and technical review

Barbara's Room Requirements

- Please remove any podiums
- If a screen is used and centered in the front room, please move it off to the side if there is a possibility of walking into the actual projection. Barbara enjoys seeing the audience and bright projection lights can have a blinding impact.

Barbara's Video Permissions

If the presentation is recorded, Barbara grants permission for the client to use the recording internally only provided the client agrees to present Barbara a copy within 30 days of the presentation date; for live and virtual events.

As a high-energy, engaging speaker, I will move freely around the stage.
